

THE CŌMODO

Bad Gastein, Salzburg Alps

New for the 2022 winter season, The Cōmodo has brought a dynamic new energy to the hotel scene in Bad Gastein, which had its heyday in the 19th century as a spa town. You can jump on a train at Salzburg and, within an hour and a half, you will be pulling into the oldest train station in the Alps, opened by Emperor Franz Joseph in 1905. Cut into a steep mountainside with a dramatic waterfall, Bad Gastein is known for its

Kaiser Wilhelm Promenade, grande dame hotels, and mineral-rich thermal waters. ♦ Brutalism meets Belle Epoque in this new design hotel, which brings together 70 Mid-century-modern-inspired rooms (ask for one with views into the Gastein Valley), a buzzing lobby space, a farm-to-table restaurant, and a slick spa inspired by Bad Gastein's wellness tradition and natural healing powers. When you are not toasting your holiday on the sun terrace or doing lengths of the outdoor pool, admire the hotel's art collection or get to work in its co-working space or library. Open all year-round, it is set to become a hub for creatives. ♦ Outside, there are 219 kilometers of ski slopes to explore across four different areas, our favorite of which is Sportgastein, which locals refer to as Tiny Tibet and where you will find Kreuzkogel, its highest peak, standing at 2,686 meters. There are restorative hikes to be had, as well as some serious spa time back at The Cōmodo, where you can luxuriate in tailored treatments and Saint Charles lotions and potions. ♦ At dinnertime, stunning vistas are paired with organic wines, classic cocktails, and modern Austrian cuisine. ♦
